Educate, Enrich, and Enlighten Lives Through Multiculturalism

Brenda Billips Square was the featured speaker at the Louisiana Library Association Conference held in Shreveport Mar 3-6, 1998. Conference co-chairs Melanie Sims and Sylvia Waits organized the program, which featured Ms. Square, Head of Library and Archives at the Amistad Research Center, speaking about how to fill in the gaps most libraries have in multicultural and ethnic materials.

Ms Square talked about where American libraries stand today as far as staffing, collection policies, education and outreach programs to ethnic minorities, and what trends we can expect in the future. Then Hollywood reared it's glamorous head. Before filming the recent movie Amistad, Steven Spielberg and his associates conducted much of their research at the Amistad Center. Ms. Square was pleased that the film reflected the true story of the incident as evidenced by her archives. The resulting publicity has kept her extremely busy, but she assured the audience that she and her staff at the Amistad Center are always available.

If anyone has questions about how the center can help your library, contact Ms. Square at: Amistad Research Center

Bylaws Passed at Conference

Barbara Royer and Catherine Mungall forged a set of bylaws for LaSSAL to address the issues of name, purpose, membership, officers and their elections, meetings, executive committee, parliamentary authority, standing committees and amendments. The bylaws were passed unanimously at the LLA Conference March 5th in Shreveport. See SSIGNALS Winter 98 for a complete listing of the bylaws.
