From the Chair by Rob Bremer

Our 2009-2010 year nears its zenith ... with our celebration of “Louisiana Libraries: The Heart of Our Communities” at our Association’s Annual Conference on Wednesday-Friday, March 10-12, in the Baton Rouge Hilton Capitol Center!

Do come ... Don't miss –

- Wednesday’s Academic Section-sponsored Pre-Conference “Using Open Source Tools to Enhance the Library Experience,” as well as “Louisiana Libraries: Advocacy on the Frontlines” with ALA President Camila Alire and “The FSU Libraries Hurricane Preparedness and Response Website” (both co-sponsored by our Section);
- Any of the ten programs sponsored/co-sponsored by the Academic Section, including: “Accessibility for All: The True Heart of Our Libraries,” “Copyright for Librarians,” “Information Literacy and the Freshman Seminar at ULL,” “Open Hearts, Open Arms: Reaching Out to Our Communities,” “Professional Development for the Underfunded Library Staff Member,” “Scholarly Communication: Sliced, Diced and Re-Assembled,” “Signs of the Times: a Signage Share Session,” “Story-Telling Workshop,” “We Promise Not to Lose Them: Community Involvement in Library Collaboration - A Digitization Project,” and “Your Web Applications on Your Space;”
- Our annual Section Business Meeting on Thursday, March 11, at 4:00 p.m., in the Capitol Center’s King Room ... when the Academic Section’s 2010-2011 Officers will be presented, the 2010 “Outstanding Academic Librarian” will be announced and this year’s “Grassroots Grant” attendee will be introduced and when we shall consider both updating the guidelines for the “Grassroots Grant” and further defining our collaborative relationships with other groups of academic librarians;
- Our annual “Meet-and-Greet” social with the Louisiana Chapter of the Association of College and Research Libraries on Thursday at 5:00 p.m. in the Capitol Room ... when our ACRL colleagues present their 2010 “Scholar Librarian of the Year” Award and tell us about Codex, their new open-access journal;

As well as many other meetings, programs, and socials ... and the fellowship our Annual Conference always brings!

Do come ... Don't miss –

Any of the ten programs sponsored or co-sponsored by the Academic Section...as well as many other meetings, programs, and socials at the 2010 LLA Annual Conference!

Stephanie Braunstein was elected as the Louisiana Library Association Councilor to the American Library Association, 2010-2013. Braunstein published a book review of The Library Instruction Cookbook by Ryan L. Sittler and Douglas Cook in Codex 1:1 (2010), 123-127: <http://journal.acrlla.org/index.php/codex/article/viewFile/10/35>. Codex is the new online journal of the Louisiana ACRL.

Linda Smith Griffin has been appointed as the ALCTS-CRS representative to the North American Serials Interest Group (NASIG), 2010-2012. Griffin is the incoming chair of the ALCTS-CCS Heads of Cataloging Interest Group, 2010-2012, and Griffin has been selected as a participant in the Harvard Institutes for Higher Education: Leadership Institute for Academic Librarians, Class of 2010.

Sigrid Kelsey served on the Editorial Advisory Board for Cases on Successful E-Learning Practices in the Developed and Developing World: Methods for the Global Information Economy, edited by Bolanle A. Olaniran, IGI Global, 2009. Sigrid Kelsey and Angela VandenBroek wrote "Web-Mediated Resource Distribution for a Library Web Site," Codex 1:1 (2010), 49-82. It is available online at <http://journal.acrlla.org/index.php/codex/article/view/14>.

The LSU Libraries is pleased to present an exceptional traveling exhibition developed and produced by the National Library of Medicine and made available free of charge to selected libraries. Harry Potter's World: Renaissance Science, Magic, and Medicine focuses on the Renaissance traditions that played an important role in the development of Western science and medicine including alchemy, astrology, and natural philosophy. The free standing graphic panels will be on display in the lobby of Middleton Library from January 24-March 6, and there are related displays throughout the Libraries. A detailed description can be found on the LSU Libraries web page at <http://www.lib.lsu.edu> or contact Peggy Chalaron (pchlar@lsu.edu or 225-578-7068) for more information.

In conjunction with the traveling exhibition "Harry Potter's World: Renaissance Science, Magic and Medicine," LSU Libraries' Special Collections have mounted "Occult Science and Philosophy in the Renaissance." Curated by Michael Taylor, the exhibition explores the real-life history that inspired Rowling. It is on display in the library's lecture hall from Jan. 25 through Mar. 6. Visitors will be able to view original copies of books printed as early as 1536.

The LSU Libraries hosted a successful "welcome home" party for the double elephant folio first edition of Audubon's Birds of America, which was treated by Etherington Conservation Services in Greensboro, NC, thanks to a grant from the Coypu Foundation. More than 140 enthusiastic visitors attended the event, held January 23, 2010.

Checking in. Staff members Linda Griffin, Barry Cowan, and Brad Wiles signed in visitors for the 10 a.m. showing.

Staff member Sarah Ferstel (right) pauses so that visitors can admire the white pelican depicted in volume 4.

Curator Elaine Smyth answers questions while visitors view volume three.

The LSU Libraries' Special Collections division launched a new, improved website on January 26, 2010. We welcome your comments on our new look. Check it out at <http://www.lib.lsu.edu/special/>.

On February 22, the LSU Libraries will open a new exhibition entitled "Campus Chronicle: 150 Years of LSU." This exhibition of images and documents from the University Archives and selected manuscript collections is presented in conjunction with the campus-wide commemoration of LSU's Sesquicentennial in 2010. Topics include the military character of the original Seminary of Learning, academics, athletics, student life, the Civil Rights movement, prominent faculty, buildings and more. The exhibition will run through May 29, 2010.

Construction on the Ernest J. Gaines Center, located on the third floor of Dupré Library, is nearing completion. UL Lafayette established the Ernest J. Gaines Center in 2008, and construction began in August 2009. Dr. Marcia Gaudet currently serves as Director.

The Ernest J. Gaines Center is an international center for scholarship on Ernest Gaines and his work. The center honors the work of UL Lafayette's Writer-in-Residence Emeritus and provides a space for scholars and students to work with the Gaines papers and manuscripts. Gaines's generous donation of his early papers and manuscripts (through 1983) and some artifacts to the library provided the foundation for the center's collection. The center also anticipates acquiring the remainder of Gaines's papers.

Along with the Gaines papers and published scholarship, the Ernest J. Gaines Center can also anticipate the donation of extensive papers, manuscripts, and tape-recorded interviews of Gaines scholars. The center will expand the collection on Gaines to include all books, journal articles, essays, interviews, theses, and dissertations on Gaines and his work. In addition, it will include a complete collection of all the published translations of Gaines's writings. It will be the site of the only complete collection of Ernest Gaines scholarship in the world.

Information about the Ernest J. Gaines Center is available at <http://library.louisiana.edu/Gaines/>.

The Nippon Foundation, Tokyo, recently selected the Earl K. Long Library as a recipient of their "100 Books for Understanding Contemporary Japan" donation program. Connie Phelps, Librarian and Chair, Services Department, wrote the successful application. The books, in English, were selected by experts with extensive knowledge of Japan and provide a basic introduction to contemporary Japan. Earl K. Long Library has gratefully received this collection, which will be used by students and faculty, especially those in the UNO-Japan summer study program. You can view the list of 100 books at:

http://library.uno.edu/collections/Nippon_Foundation_Book_Donation.pdf.

One of the most highly prized collections of the Earl K. Long Library is the Historical Archives of the Supreme Court of Louisiana (1813-1920). Thanks to a grant of $250,000 from the U.S. Department of Education, over 20,000 case files from 1813 to 1878 were converted from microfilm and the original fragile paper to electronic files (2.8 million images), which are now available to researchers around the world. The collection includes maps, photographs, surveys, printed briefs, and a wealth of other documentation. Case files are being added to the LOUISiana Digital Library at <http://library.uno.edu/collections/supremecourt.html>. For further information and to access the rest of the collection, contact the Louisiana & Special Collections Department at the Earl K. Long Library, University of New Orleans, 504-280-6544 or libspec@uno.edu.

Keith Pickett, Digital Initiatives Librarian, was elected chair of the LOUISiana Digital Library Committee in October 2009. He will give a presentation titled "Digital Learning and the LOUISiana Digital Library" at the LASL Midwinter Conference on January 30, 2010.

Sonnet Brown, Federal Documents Librarian, was selected as a participant in ALA's 2010 Class of Emerging Leaders. The Emerging Leaders program enables newer librarians from across the country to participate in problem-solving work groups, network with peers, gain an inside look into ALA structure, and have an opportunity to serve the profession in a leadership capacity. It puts them on the fast track to ALA and professional leadership. Sonnet's group is working to organize professional development webinars for LearnRT.

To further promote the Census, Sonnet Brown is presenting at the Louisiana Association of School Librarians Midwinter Conference. The presentation, Embracing the 2010 Census: Brought to you by the Letter C and the Number 10, is designed to show school librarians how they can promote the Census in their libraries. It will also show librarians resources that they can share with teachers, including Census lesson plans and class activities designed for different subjects at various grade levels.
